We are planning another season of our popular learning group sessions as they were much appreciated last year. They will be slightly restructured, offer a different set of topics/provocations and provide time for reflection

The purpose of these reflection sessions is to:

- build our confidence as advocates for young children as learners
- support a researchful approach to our own practice
- increase our awareness of recent writing and research
- deepen our understanding of the Reggio approach
- broaden our understanding of what education is for and why

This year the sessions will be 'paired' in terms of offering a speaker or a stimulus on the Saturdays and at the following session on Thursdays we will give time for dialogue and exchange, thinking on the learning content.
